Our story

A LEGACY OF CRAFTSMANSHIP

JackEvie is part of a long-established family-run business which supplies architects, interior designers and individuals around the world, with unique, handcrafted and beautifully finished wood floors.

Every JackEvie floor is designed with our forward-thinking mentality and crafted with meticulous attention to detail.

A LIFETIME PASSION FOR FLOORING

From humble beginnings, JackEvie has grown into one of the world's best loved flooring brands.

Since 1995, JackEvie has designed and engineered its products in-house with some of the most talented, skilled and passionate people in the industry.

Today, our advanced development continues at our state-of-the-art facility in the Heart of England, where we continue to develop ingenious methods to create beautiful solid and engineered wood floors.

Environment

QUALITY FLOORS RESPONSIBLY SOURCED

Many of our customers care about where their wood floor comes from and ask whether it is 'sustainable'.

As wood floor specialists, so do we; responsible forestry is fundamental to what we do and when properly managed, wood is the ultimate sustainable resource. JackEve is committed to providing sustainable wood products, and we operate under a firm environmental policy.

SUSTAINABLE FOREST MANAGEMENT

Wood can be an infinite resource if our forests are managed in a sustainable way. By using wood from managed forests, our wood sourcing doesn't contribute to deforestation.

USING WOOD ECONOMICALLY

Trees play a crucial role in combating climate change by absorbing CO2 and stimulating biodiversity. That means we must treat them with care, in particular the slow-growing species such as oak. That's why we only use these species in the top layers of our hardwood plank floors.

JackEve is proud to be FSC® and PEFC certified and all of JackEve Wood Flooring products are fully compliant with the UK Timber Regulations.

CHOOSING THE RIGHT GRADE

Natural Grade

Natural grade includes variations in colour tone from plank to plank, with more noticeable markings such as knots, streaks, sapwood and fine cracks. The grading is perfect for owners who want a non-uniform, natural wood floor.

Rustic Grade

Rustic grade oak comes with all the variations and authentic characteristics familiar with this grade of wood. Featuring colour variations, grain pattern variations, unlimited knots size, cracks and splits.

Super Rustic Grade

Super rustic grade is about as natural as it gets. You'll find everything from colour variations, grain pattern variations, sapwood, unlimited knots size, cracks and filled splits. A truly distinctive grade that stands out from the crowd.

TYPES OF WOOD

SOLID vs ENGINEERED WHAT TO CHOOSE?

Solid wood

Engineered wood

What is Engineered Wood Flooring?

Engineered wood floor is made up of multiple layers which improves stability dramatically. Each layer is placed so that the grain runs perpendicularly, making it virtually impossible for the timber to swell or shrink with changes in humidity. The top layer is made from solid oak, and varies in thickness from 3mm to 6mm. The thicker the top (wear) layer, the more times it can be sanded, repaired and refinished. The thickest wear layers are equivalent to those on solid timber boards. Engineered timber is now the most popular type of wood flooring and is used worldwide. JackEve has developed advanced technology to produce boards in a wide variety of shapes, styles and sizes as well as the application of an enormous variety of really interesting finishes.

What is Solid Wood Flooring?

A solid wood floor is made up of planks or boards which have been milled from a single piece of timber, usually a hardwood. As ambient humidity changes, solid wood responds by gaining or losing moisture, by expanding or shrinking, and becoming weaker or stronger. This potential instability effectively limits the length and width of the boards. Solid wood flooring is generally used for chevron or herringbone floors which use smaller blocks and is often used for sports floors and more traditional mosaics and parquetry.

CHOOSING THE RIGHT PATTERN

While there are plenty of different options available, your choice of style and size will have a dramatic effect on the final look.

CHOOSING THE RIGHT FINISH

The final finish of the floor acts as a protective barrier on the surface of the natural wood. There are two main options when it comes to wood flooring finishes.

Matt UV Oil

The major benefit of a UV oil finish is that it feels natural, because the cured oil becomes part of the wood, if you touch the wood you can feel every detail of the grain and the warmth of the texture. An oiled finish will require periodic rejuvenation of oil. The UV hardened oil finish can be maintained by applying a maintenance oil when necessary. Scratches are less noticeable and much easier to fix with an oil finish.

Matt UV Lacquer

UV lacquer is a hard wearing layer which sits on top of the wood surface that is cured by high energy UV rays. In contrast to UV oil, it does not penetrate into the wood, instead, it bonds to the surface of the wood, and forms a layer on top. However scratches are more noticeable with lacquer than on an oiled surface. And if scratches do develop, it's much more difficult to fix, usually it requires sanding a larger area and then applying a lacquer product.

SURFACE TEXTURE

Brushed

The wood is brushed with steel bristles which opens the grain to give you a more dramatic appearance.

Tumbled

Random dings, dents and marks are visible on the edges of the boards, created by tumbling the boards.

Filled splits

Where splits feature, usually on rustic grade wood, filler is used to highlight the natural features of the floor.

Ties

A butterfly joint, also called a bow tie, is a type of joint or inlay used to bind wood splits together.

Distressed

Various distressing methods are applied to make a new floor have the appearance of an aged floor.

Skip sawn

This procedure leaves only random saw marks visible, resulting in a more gentle, time-worn surface.

Band sawn

Saw marks are randomly applied across the face of the floorboard, perpendicular to the length.

Sawn mark

By duplicating traditional circular saw marks, a look similar to reclaimed wood is created.

Moorlands Collection

The Moorlands Collection offers something very different and distinctive by using the latest Reactive Stains technology. At JackEve, we can create unique colour tone effects which are not possible with standard pigmented wood stains. By interacting with the natural tannins and sugars within the oak we are able to create two-toned colours in wide variations.

Shire Collection

In days gone by, floors were made using rustic machinery that left saw marks across the surface. This was the inspiration for our Shire Collection. We added extra texture against the grain to create an antique effect full of character with irregular edges, filled knots and cracks with a touch of sapwood.

 PLEASE NOTE:

VISIT OUR SHOWROOM

Open Monday to Friday and situated at JackEve's HQ in Wolverhampton, our purpose built showroom includes over 300 large format samples which include plank, herringbone, chevron, and bespoke wood floors. Visitors can discover new and innovative surface solutions, designed to complement any interior style, whether it is commercial or residential in scale.

WE BRING OUR SHOWROOM TO YOU

At JackEve we value our customers time and with that in mind we offer a mobile showroom service. Stacked out with many of our products, our mobile showroom is ideal for those looking for stress free shopping, direct consultation with a flooring expert and a free quotation service. We are more than happy to present our products to you anywhere around the country.

REQUEST SAMPLES

Up to three small free samples of our wood flooring are available on request. Samples are a great way to see and feel the superior quality of the boards we supply. When comparing against samples from other suppliers, please note the thickness of the hardwood top layer and the quality of the materials used to make up the board as a whole.
